FARM FOR SALE.
The Best Bargain Offered

S. N. ELLIOTT offers for sale this Farm of 97 Acres, at Elliott's Station, on the Mississippi Central Railroad, eight miles south of Grenada. 300 more acres can be added if desired.

The land lies on both sides of the railroad, up to Elliott's Station, and affords eligible site for Mercantile and Manufacturing establishments. It has an abundance of fine timber, needed by any family, and is cheap enough to pay the price or the whole tract. It is all level, and susceptible of division to suit any purposes. Has 350 acres cleared and under good fence. Has a comfortable family residence with good out-houses, barns and stables—large, and the best gin, screw and cotton press—all new, in the same county. The improvements cost within the last three years $4000. Mr. Elliott desires to sell before the first of January next, and as a strong inducement he offers his land at ten dollars per acre, in United States Currency, for which he refused thirty dollars per acre in 1865. Title will be given, if desired, upon half the price upon fair terms. Sale must be made soon or not at all. Title of the highest grade.

MEMPHIS APPEAL.

STATE DEBT ACCUMULATING.

Big Row in Brownlow Council.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Dec. 9, 1867.

Correspondence Memphis Appeal.

The Omnibus Railroad bill passed by large majorities in both Houses. In Brownlow's first message, he wanted to hold railroads to very strict accountability, and was in favor of robbing them to make good the losses of loyal men. The weak, vain, vindictive old man really meant it, but when he broke with Fletcher and fell into the hands of his present managers, his course changed. He was still vindictive enough when he wanted to take possession of the Memphis and Ohio road, because that would give places to his son's father-in-law, and to Richards, and others; but this Radical lion roared gently, as a sucking cove, about other roads that owed four times as much interest as the Memphis and Ohio road, and about roads whose receivers had never made a report or paid a dollar into the State Treasury. He was manipulated, until recently he was induced to send to the Legislature a special message to say that there would not be difficulty about paying the State debt proper falling due, that for anticipated financial difficulties, and that the best thing the Legislature could do would be to increase the State debt by giving four million dollars to railroads. The Omnibus Railroad bill, thus indorsed, was a huge conglomerate, gotten up by log-rolling, and expecting to be carried through by the enlistment of many personal and sectional interests for objects of very different degrees of merit. Some of the roads proposed to be aided are probably very deserving and their improvement may tend to develop the State, but others are perfect dead beats. All were carried through in one batch by the aid of the Governor's indorsement. Some of the roads owe an aggregate of five million dollars that they have failed to pay on their indebtedness, and that has had to be saddled on tax payers of the State, and to benefit them the State has, in the last two years, assumed seventeen million dollars of debt, making her entire debt on account of railroads prior to this Omnibus bill, about to twenty-five million dollars. Some of the roads benefitted by this bill have already drawn from three hundred thousand dollars to over a million dollars more than the entire cost of each road, from the State treasury. Some of them are in a condition that cannot be expected to pay expenses for many years, and some are to be built in other States. The absurdity of Tennessee, in her present condition, going deeper in debt to build railroads in other States

PRINCIPLES GOVERNING THE CONDUCT OF THE APPEAL.

A GOVERNMENT of white men for white men; and no political miscegenation.

LOYALTY to the Union of the STATES: FIDELITY to the Constitution in its true extent and meaning: Obedience to and maintenance of all law, State and National, constitutionally enacted.

RESISTANCE to Tyranny, Usurpation and Oppression, of one man or many; and to all encroachments upon the rights of freemen or of States, or upon the just and Constitutional prerogatives of any Department of the State or National Governments.

NO ESTABLISHMENTS of Military despotisms, no enthroning of martial law, no suspension of the writ of Habeas Corpus, no slaying of citizens by Military Commission, no interference with the Courts, no lettres de'cachet, in time of peace.

STRICT SUBORDINATION of the Military to the Civil Power.

NO STANDING ARMIES of States in time of peace.

RESTORATION of disfranchised citizens to all rights and privileges of which they have been disseized; no prosecutions or disqualifications for political opinions; for the PAST, oblivion of offences; for the PRESENT and FUTURE, UNION, PEACE, LAW and ORDER.

PERPETUAL ASSURANCE to all freemen of the African race, of all the CIVIL rights of freemen.

NO REPUDIATION, by State or Nation, of any honest and lawful debt.

NO REVIVAL of old party differences; but a Union of all Conservative men, of all former parties, who revere the Constitution, to restore the old land-marks of the Government.

NO LEGISLATION to plunder one portion of the country for the profit of another portion.

WHATEVER is JUST; whatever is RIGHT; whatever is of GOOD REPUTE, and worthy of the descendants of English freemen.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

No notice can be taken of anonymous Communications. Whatever is intended for insertion in the APPEAL, must be authenticated by the name and address of the writer, as a guarantee of his good faith and responsibility.

Business letters should be addressed to "THE APPEAL," Memphis.

Communications for publication must be written on one side of the page only, and with all other matters connected with the editorial department, should be addressed: EDITORS OF THE APPEAL, Memphis.

We cannot, as a rule, undertake to return articles not found suitable for publication.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS.

The arrest of Col. GALLAWAY and Maj. RHEA, proprietors and editors of the Avalanche, by the fiat of Judge HUNTER, as we are informed, on the pretext of a contempt of court, the "contempt" being the publication of an article reflecting upon HUNTER for allowing as bail a negro vagrant, proves HUNTER to be an unfit person for the position which he holds, if there were no other evidence of that fact. The evidences of contempt of court are disrespect to the court at its sessions, or contempt and disobedience of its mandates. The article in the Avalanche, supposed to be the ground of the arrest, comes under neither of these provisions. The authority of the Judge is not interfered with, nor his mandates defied. The comments upon his course are legitimate criticism upon a public functionary, and may indeed destroy his moral weight, and bring him into "contempt," as an individual, but do not weaken the power or authority of his edicts as a civil magistrate. The Judge will find, before he gets through with this matter, that there are some departments of the Government that have as high and impregnable a position in the Constitution as the Judiciary. He may learn, from this experiment, to respect the freedom of an independent press.

The gist of the Avalanche's charge against Judge HUNTER, which appeared in its local column, in the report of a case wherein the Judge is alleged to have taken insufficient bail, is that the Judge is a partizan and allows his feelings, as such, to control him on the bench. An action of libel was open to him as to any other individual; but this would throw the case into another court. A more summary method was to arrest the parties and try them before HUNTER himself. If Judges are permitted thus to resent private griefs and strike down the independence of the Press, we have indeed come to the end of Constitutional Government.

THE OBJECT OF BLACK SUFFRAGE.

The New York Tribune, in replying in extenso, to an article in the World, which was elicited by an attack by the Tribune upon Mr. JOHNSON'S premises in the late Message, touching negro suffrage, makes the following frank confession and proclamation:

Remarks.—Mr. Johnson had charged that it was the avowed purpose of the Reconstructionists to give the blacks a clear majority in every Southern State; The World dexterously substitutes for this an assertion that the Reconstruction policy is designed to keep the Republicans in power "by the aid of the negro vote"—which is a horse of quite another color. It is established by successive elections that, where all the ex-rebels are allowed to vote, while the blacks are denied the elective franchise (as in Kentucky and Maryland), the Democratic party carries all before it; while, where the blacks are enfranchised, and a tithe of the ex-rebels are not, the Republicans generally succeed. Now, then, we not merely admit but proclaim that one reason for our desire that the blacks shall vote if based on the probability that they will generally vote with the party that has freed and enfranchised them. In other words: We wish the blacks to vote for a reason exactly parallel with that which makes the World clamor for the enfranchisement of all the rebels, and there is exactly the same baseness involved in the one wish as in the other. We don't want fifteen Kentuckys and Marylands voting for the next President; the World does. If we "wince" in the premises, the public will remark it.

This is not only "one reason," but the whole of it. Neither the Tribune nor any other Radical would for one moment, support black suffrage, were they convinced that it would be cast against the Radical party. On the same principle the Radical party would grant suffrage to any class of men or women. There can be no doubt, in the mind of any thinking observer, that not a Confederate would be disfranchised, if the Radical party could calculate on the support of the so-called rebels. The pretense that the Confederates have forfeited their right of suffrage, and that it is dangerous to give them participation in the Government, and all other pretenses, indeed, are put forward merely to cover the design, which the Tribune has so boldly avowed, as the end and purpose of negro suffrage. The only end and purpose is to secure their party in power, at the next Presidential election. The end may be legitimate, if legitimately pursued. But the means is the means of the highwayman. It may be very proper, lawful and honest, in the highwayman, to get another man's money, as for example, when he shall give him a quid pro quo, or a promise to pay, which is lawful and fair, and honestly intended to be complied with, or if he can induce the man to voluntarily give him his money. But the reverse appears, when the highwayman demands his "money or his life."

The Radical party wish to be continued in power. As long as they can get it by the free suffrages of an intelligent people, accustomed to scrutinize and canvass the claims and purposes of parties, they are fairly entitled to it. But whenever they are compelled to deprive hundreds of thousands of prescriptive freemen of their rights to vote, and to make new voters out of men who have never exercised that right, and whom no man of intelligence and the least particle of self-respect, will claim to be competent for its exercise, they come so near to the highwayman's plea of "stand and deliver," that a hair-split cannot point out the difference. Nay, the plea put forward by the Tribune involves even more than this diabolical doctrine. It sanctifies the principle, if Radical practice could sanctify anything and not absolutely damn every thing that is connected with it, that wherever a party has the power, it may disfranchise all who oppose it, if that be necessary to secure its lease upon power and its perpetual existence. The Conservatives may well quote the Radical practice, adopted wherever it has been necessary to their success, and hereafter disfranchise every Radical in the United States, on the ground that they have pursued a similar policy. They may as lawfully do this in New York as in Tennessee. Why not? The Radicals may be termed "rebels," in that they have prevented the restoration of the Union, the return of prosperity and the enforcement of the Constitution. Even upon this plea, it is easy enough to stigmatize and place any set of men under the ban. Very many thinking men believe, and have history and facts to sustain them, that they have been the worst and most formidable foes the Union ever had. They have scrupled at nothing to attain their ends. But even this plea is not necessary to justify their proscription. Mr. GREELEY has furnished a plea, that he at least cannot deny, when he confesses, that one of the reasons for the reconstruction acts of Congress is that the newly enfranchised slaves will "generally vote with the party that has freed and enfranchised them." The opposite reason holds, though not expressly stated, with regard to the disfranchised whites. The reason for their disfranchisement is that they would generally vote against the party that disfranchised them. If the Radical party hold to a doctrine, so destructive of Republican government and individual rights, why may not any other party that may have the same power, bring the same unscrupulous rule to bear upon the Radicals themselves? There can be no reason for refraining from such a course, except alone good conscience, a regard for the sanctity of the Constitution, respect for the integrity of Republican government, and that magnanimity to an enemy which the Radicals have never exhibited towards their opponents.

—There is an organized gang of thieves between Pittsburg and Johnstown, Pennsylvania, who attack and plunder passenger trains on the Pennsylvania Central Railroad.

—The next exciting political question in Congress, now that impeachment is settled, will be the enforcement of negro suffrage, by Federal legislation, in all the States.

—Fourteen hundred pounds of grapes, packed in saw dust, were shipped from Stockton, Cal., to New York via San Francisco. The Stockton paper thinks the fruit will startle New York with a specimen of California viniculture.

—Dickens' reading of the death of Little Paul Dombey is said to be by far the most effective of his recitations. He moves the whole audience to tears by his exquisite pathos.

—Greeley promises a portrait of himself to every Tribune subscriber. If that doesn't cut down the circulation of the Tribune, its readers must be worse than Pagan worshippers of benevolent ugliness.

—Dr. Hayes, the Artic lecturer, says that he has seen an iceberg so large that if sold by the pound at market rates in New York, the proceeds would pay the public debt. His plan is quite as good as Mc'Culloch's not to mention its coolness.

For the Ladies.

There may be some among our fair perusers who would be interested in knowing that an old merino dress may be made to look as good as new, by first ripping to pieces the skirt, and afterwards washing each breadth separately, in warm suites, being careful to rinse only in clear warm water or suds. Cold water after warm water will shrink any kind of woolen goods. Iron while quite damp on the wrong side. Afterwards fold once double on the right side; placing over it a clean newspaper, and iron with a very hot flat, in this way making the seam fold in all new double fold goods.

IN A late sermon in London, Archbishop Manning maintained that Rome was the capital of Christendom and not of Italy, and said that any attempt to disturb the temporal sovereignty of the Pope should be denounced by the entire Catholic Church.

[WESTERN ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTS.]

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

Business of the Black and Tan Reconstruction Convention.

NEW ORLEANS, December 11.—The Convention to-day adopted Blackburn's resolution for the issue of State bonds to the amount of three to five hundred thousand dollars, as may be required. The committee appointed to consult with the financiers, reported that these bonds could be negotiated at sixty-five cents on the dollar. It was stated in debate that Northern capitalists stood ready to take them as soon as issued. The resolution, though strongly opposed, was finally adopted by a vote of 48 to 34.

A resolution was offered by the negro Cromwell that the State of Louisiana shall never assume or pay any debt contracted in aid of the rebellion, or claim from the United States, or make any compensation whatever for slaves emancipated or liberated any way whatever. Laid over under the rules.

FROM RICHMOND.

Volunteer "Bureau" Officers to be Retained—Convention Matters.

NEW YORK, December 11.—The Herald's special says volunteer officers of the Bureau in Virginia, who are ordered to be mustered out on January 1st, will be retained in the Bureau service as civilians until that institution is dispensed with.

In the Convention the following preamble and resolution was tabled, on the subject of the oath to be required of members:

WHEREAS, During the canvass for seats in this Convention, it was clearly understood that the test oath, known as the "iron-clad," would not be enforced on required of candidates elect; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Convention will not and does not require the aforesaid oath as a qualification of its members to seats on the floor.

CONGRESSIONAL.

NEW YORK, December 11.—A Times' special says no action has yet been had by the Senate Financial Committee on the House anti-Contraction bill, though it has been talked over by the members. Notwithstanding the strong pressure for its passage, it is by no means certain that the Committee will report in favor of it. Last year the Committee was unanimous against a similar measure.

Judge Orth, of Indiana, submitted the following proposition to the Committee on Foreign Affairs:

First, This Government does not and will not recognize the doctrine of natural allegiance. Second, That a person of foreign birth, naturalized according to our laws, acquires all the rights and privileges of a native-born citizen, except such as are constitutionally denied him. And that the United States owes the foreign the same protection as the native-born citizen.

FOREIGN.

The Proposed Fenian Demonstration Forbidden.

LIVERPOOL, December 11.—The proposed Fenian demonstration next Sunday has been peremptorily forbidden by the authorities, who are fearful of the consequence of so violent an expression of ill feeling towards the Government.

LEGISLATIVE.

SENATE—MONDAY.

By Mr. Echel—A resolution authorizing the Governor to borrow $400,000 at a rate of interest not exceeding twelve per cent. to pay the interest now due the State. Under a suspension of the rules it was referred to the Committee on Finance and Ways and Means.

By Mr. Henderson—A bill requiring all railroads to carry all deaf, dumb and blind persons to and from the institutions which they may be attending free of charge. Passed first reading.

The bill authorizing the Comptroller to pay over $8000 to 10,000 to the Metropolitan Police of Chattanooga for services, came up. After debate it was lost by a vote of 14 to 7.

A motion to reconsider the vote passing the Omnibus Railroad bill was made and lost.

Adjourned to 9 a.m. Tuesday.

HOUSE.

By Mr. Taylor, of Carter—A resolution authorizing the Governor to institute a suit against the city of Nashville for $200,000 damages for injury done to the capitol grounds by cutting a street through the same. Referred to the Committee on Public Grounds.

Senate resolution No. 40—Providing that the General Assembly adjourn on the 18th inst., to meet on the second Monday of January, 1868. Adopted.

Mr. Woodcock read a protest against the passage of the Omnibus Railroad bill, which he asked might be entered upon the House journal. Objection was made on the ground that the language used in the protest was disrespectful to the House, casting unjust reflections upon the members who voted for the bill. The objections were overruled, and the protest directed to be spread upon the journal.

The bill to secure compensation from the United States for losses of loyal citizens incurred by the rebellion, was considered and passed second reading.

House adjourned to 9 a.m. Tuesday.

WANTED—THE PATENT

AURORA OIL.

We want money everywhere to study their own interests. The right to manufacture and sell the Patent Aurora Oil in a single county will make more money to the purchaser in three months than the largest farm in your State will make in a whole year. The Aurora Oil actually costs less than one-half the price of Coal Oil, and the illuminating power of the Aurora Oil is as much superior to the Coal Oil as the Coal Oil is to a tallow candle, and is NO MORE explosive than a tallow candle. Any Lamp that will burn Coal Oil will burn the Aurora Oil. It does not smoke the chimney, it does not smell—it will not grease or stain the finest linen—not even white cloth. The material for its manufacture is inexhaustible. One man can make seventy-five barrels per day. No machinery required. We will pay your fare to and from the city of Memphis and bills while here, if we cannot prove all, and even more, than we have stated. A single county is a small fortune to the man of enterprise, and the right for a State is untold wealth.

CONTINUED.—The case of the negro girl, Belle, arrested for stealing some diamonds from Mr. Wm. Ringwald, in Chelsea, was brought up at Mr. Justice Millet's office yesterday, and, for want of testimony, continued till to-day.

IMPORTANT TO MECHANICS.—A meeting of all mechanics, manufacturers, and all others interested in building, are requested to meet on Saturday, December 14th, at 8 o'clock p.m., at the office of D. Winter, Irving block.

HICKORY WYTHE.—A pair of mules, one bay and one sorrell, was stolen from Mr. D. McKenzie at Hickory Wythe Station on the night of the 10th instant. The long-eared animals have come hitherward.

FORGERY AND PERJURY.—One of the Metropolitan Police detectives arrested, yesterday, one John H. Grant, charged with forgery and perjury. The crime was committed at one of our popular banks some weeks since. An examination will take place to-day.

SENT HOME.—Officer H. E. Allen arrived in the city yesterday armed with a requisition from Fayette county, and took under his charge the negro accused of stealing three hogs belonging to Mr. H. E. Cannon. Negroes will steal.

NICOLSON PAVEMENT.—For the past two days active work on the Nicolson pavement on Main street has been suspended—from what cause we know not. It is to be hoped that operations will speedily be resumed, and Memphis not disgraced by knee-deep mud and "Park Ferries," on Main street, this winter.

WIFE WHIPPING.—The delightful region of Happy Hollow furnished a case yesterday, that of Jas. Cane, who was charged with raising his hands in unkindness against his better half. He was furnished with one of the vacant rooms in the first district station, and will answer for his unmanly crime this morning.

ROBBERY IN YALLOBUSHA CO.—A fine black horse, a Mexican saddle, a pair of blankets and fifty dollars in currency was stolen from the plantation of Mr. John Burton, at Boody's Ferry, Yallobusha county, Miss. A yellow boy employed on the place is suspected of the theft. He took the horse, was traced to this city yesterday. The detectives are on his track.

CHASED OFF.—Three men were found taking the hide from a stolen cow, near the Ford place, in Chelsea, by some passers-by at an early hour yesterday morning. Chase was given but the thieves escaped. This stealing of cattle in our suburbs is becoming a serious loss as well as a great nuisance. Some means should be devised to stop it. We sometime since suggested the organization of a mounted police, but cannot learn that anything has been done in the matter.

OUR WEEKLY.—Our Mammoth Weekly is published to-day. It contains the usual quantity of editorial, the Masonic column, choice reading matter, original and selected poetry, river, financial and commercial news, with the most complete and correct quotations, together with the latest local items of interest. In fact, all the news by rail, mail, steamer and telegraph. Subscription five dollars per annum. Copies, ready for mailing, may be had at our counting room, No. 13 Madison street.

FAIR PLAY IS A JEWEL.—We are reliably informed that certain parties are busily engaged in fabricating misrepresentations in regard to the Memphis and Charleston Fast Freight Line, to shippers from our city. The assertion that there is any detention at Charleston—we are assured by Col. C. D. Owens, General Freight agent for this line, now in the city—is utterly false, and shippers need entertain no fears of delay at that or any other point on this route. The deliberate attempt to falsify facts, from interested motives, is certainly anything but creditable to those in any way concerned in this nefarious transaction.

NO TIME.—Time in Memphis, like the politics of some of its citizens, is a variable as March winds. A friend of ours yesterday desired to leave by the Memphis and Louisville line, and supposing city time was either faster or slower than railroad, made application to several timeists and watch maker shops, but could not get correct information. Thinking that he could certainly find out at a railroad office, he inquired at that of the Memphis and Charleston road, corner of Main and South Court streets, and was met with the usual answer, "I don't know." Without desiring to question the veracity of the ticket agent, it seems strange to us that these officers are not possessed of this valuable information. Although the roads are opposing ones, that is no reason why the officers should not be fully posted as to each others movements.

STORE ROBBERY.—Between 10 o'clock Tuesday night and daylight yesterday morning, the clothing and furnishing store of Mr. Jacob Sutter, No. 142½ Main street, was robbed of about seven hundred dollars' worth of goods. Complaint was made to Justice Miller that N. E. Fieldruke, the fire eater, and Tom Porter, one of the mackerel chiefs, were suspected. They were arrested and brought before the Justice, who gave them a hearing, and in default of five thousand dollars bail each, sent the accused up to the Criminal Court for trial. Officer Tom Mahoney made the arrest, and brought the parties to the county jail on Adams street. Previous to being searched and locked up, Fieldruke attempted to take poison, and succeeded in swallowing some powder. Two of the jailors interfered and tried to stop him, but he got it down. Drs. Arthur K. Taylor and W. H. White were called in and suggested an emetic, but the firseater refused to swallow it, and went to bed asleep. Three pairs of pants were found in his possession, as was also a box of medicines and surgical instruments. New developments in this case may be looked for to-morrow.

A SUPPER.—Few persons are aware of the trying duties of those who are attached to the Postoffice Department, although every man, woman and child in our city are witnesses to the uniform courtesy and politeness of those young gentlemen through whose hands pass the little missives which bring us news both good and ill. Few possibly are as greatly indebted to those gentlemen as the press and our different moneyed institutions. The former are daily laid under obligations for late news after the doors are closed to the outside world, and our Banks, through the promptness of the clerk, or the carrier, very often receive letters, which, by a little delay in the delivery, would prove the source of much inconvenience, if not loss. Grateful for favors rendered, Mr. C. P. Norris, Cashier of the First National Bank, of this city, gave a supper, last night, at John Gaston's, at which the Postoffice employees were present, as well as several friends of Mr. Norris. The affair was a very happy one, and was enjoyed by those present with zest. The supper was gotten up as only Gaston can do such things. Complimentary speeches were made and toasts were drank until a late hour. It was a pleasant and social reunion, and reflects credit upon the liberality of Mr. Norris, as well as the Bank which he so ably represented.

DARING ROBBERY ON THE HORN LAKE ROAD.

A PLANTER IS ROBBED OF EIGHT MULES, TEN BALES OF COTTON, TWO WAGONS, HARNESS, ETC.

An Employee Arrested and the Property Recovered.

Mr. J. T. Latham, who resides about twenty miles from this city, on the Horn Lake road, was visited by thieves on Tuesday night last and robbed of eight mules, ten bales cotton, two wagons and a lot of harness. The absence of an employee named Jas. Stewart, excited the suspicion that he was the thief. Search was made, and the property traced to within five miles of Memphis, when the trail was lost. The searchers came to the city and lodged information with the police. Detective Conneli was not long in finding out the property and arresting Stewart. All the property was recovered, and the accused furnished with quarters at the Adams street prison to await a requisition from Mississippi. This is one of the most daring robberies that has come to our knowledge for some time. Until these prowlers are properly punished such acts will continue to be perpetrated. Straw bail turns many a thief loose.

DR. SHAW DEFINES HIS POSITION

HE PITCHES INTO TAX-TITLE EXTENSIVELY.

He Calls Grandma's Convention a Packed Bogus Concern.

In a letter published in an evening paper of yesterday, Dr. A. T. Shaw, in conclusion, speaketh thusly: "And now while I have my pen in hand, let me remove an erroneous impression that seems to obtain, that I pledged myself to support the nominees of that packed convention, called a convention, composed of men and boys from Arkansas, Mississippi, President's Island, and women in male attire from Rotten Row. I said that night that I stood to my announcement, that I would be a candidate, subject to the choice of a convention. I made no pledge to support anybody. For all that assemblage, I might be a candidate still; but I chose to retire from the contest and support Mr. Fitch, to make sure that Memphis and my party should not suffer damning disgrace of having such a man as Beecher for Mayor. I am willing to accept all the obloquy attached to the charge of bolting such a disgraceful concern. All the decency of Memphis have bolted and repudiated it, and I go with them."

AMUSEMENTS.

NEW MEMPHIS THEATER.—The Long Strike was repeated at the New Memphis last night to a fair house, although the merits of the company deserved a much better attendance. The short, but heavy shower which occurred about seven o'clock probably had its effects. The play was well rendered, as generally the case. The star, Miss Cecile Rush, played "Jane Lercyd," a factory girl, very well, and made all out of the character that could be made, while Messrs Roche, Anderson, Mitchell, Allerton and Frank with universal satisfaction. Miss Gulick and Miss Arnold, although their parts were small, they were admirably acted. To-night Miss Rush appears as "Mary Stewart." The excellent performance promised should fill the house to overflowing.

VARIETIES—GRAND COMPLIMENTARY BENEFIT.—Louise Payne Wray, widow of the late W. A. Wray, lost on the Ill-fated Evening Star, (the greatest versatile performer in the profession), takes a benefit at the above Hall. Recently she was in a condition of all she owned belonging to herself and daughter, and she seeks to redeem her losses in this manner. During the evening premiums will be awarded, among them a bird cage, to the handsomest man, tin cup to the ugliest, pair of shoes to the man with the biggest foot, silver dollar to the man with the biggest nose. The committee is to be appointed by any four gentlemen in the audience. Mrs. Wray's uniform, lady-like behavior, her good character and constant endeavor to please on the dramatic stage, entities her to the sympathy of all her friends. We trust she will have a crowded house.

[CORRESPONDENCE.]

WATER VALLEY, MISS., December 9, 1867.

Editors Memphis Appeal:

After about forty winks of sleep, I was called upon at five o'clock in the morning to make my toilet for the six o'clock train. After several resolves, turns and yawns, I arose from my downy couch and proceeded to shiver myself into my clothes and start for the Memphis and Charleston depot. After waiting for some distance I was suddenly brought to a halt by dropping off of the bayou bridge, on Madison street, more scared than hurt. I crawled out, blessing the omnibuses for not calling for me, and the Street Commissioner for not filling up such a "discrepancy" in the pavements. On I went, through pain and anxiety, until I reached the depot, when the beaming countenance of my old friend, Sam Scott, sitting on the locomotive box, behind the cabalistic words, "Engine 248" in his hands, I entered the cars, to find Mr. Carter, of the firm of Lawrence & Carter—a "chumie" for the trip. Upon our arrival at Grand Junction, I looked around with argus eyes for an item, but the fall of cotton had crushed everything and business was flat. After resting and refreshing, the Mississippi Central train came along, and Mr. Lockhart, the young and handsome conductor, placed me under his special supervision, and after enjoying several hearty laughs, we arrived in this go-a-head little city of Water Valley, where business, industry, and perseverance are all displayed so plain that the wayfaring fool in his stumbling would fail to notice it. As a short phonographic description may be interesting to many of your readers, I will give you a Homeopathic dose. At the close of the war this place contained about 150 inhabitants, and to-day we number about 3,000 Southern villages. To-day it has a population of over 2000, and increasing daily. The Mississippi Central Railroad has established this as the headquarters of the road, and have erected car and machine shops covering near three acres of ground and employing over 200 hands. Judging from the wrecks of cars, locomotives, and broken machinery, one would be reminded of the Federal monuments left as trophies for the Southern people to be thankful for, as the witches of the dead to haunt him at railroad accidents. All the work of this Company has been put up in the most substantial manner, and for the courtesies shown us we are indebted to the Master Mechanic, Mr. Harry Gibbons, and also to Col. Sam Carey, General Ticket Agent. Among the other improvements there is a large sash and door factory, also a furniture manufactory; and besides these there is one of the best plow and boiler factories to be found anywhere. The inhabitants of this place seem to have the determination of making themselves a self-sustaining people, and Joe Cox deems it his mission to water hogs, and enter into the spirit of trade. Among the business house here, is one of our city millinery establishments, a branch of Mrs. Wilkins', under the charge of Miss Fannie Cogen, whose winning ways have won the confidence of the ladies, and is now doing a very good business. There is now in course of construction a large cotton factory, which promises to be one of the largest in the South; and, judging of the energy and perseverance, we have no hesitancy in saying that at some future day, Water Valley will be one of the live cities of this continent. Feeling I have tired out myself, if not your readers, I must close, to get ready to start further south. So, hoping our friends will take an "Appeal" upon it, I remain, yours, truly.

"BOB."

MRS. JACKSON'S QUEEN BESS WASH AND COMPLEXION POWDER.—We take pleasure in calling the attention of the ladies and public generally, and especially the druggists in the city and country, to the above named celebrated beautifier. Mrs. Jackson, in order to remove from the minds of the public the prejudice now existing in regard to the many cosmetics now before them, has submitted for inspection and analysis her Queen Bess Wash and Complexion Powder to the oldest and most celebrated French and German chemists in the United States, and they warrant it to contain no acid or poisonous mineral which could in any possible manner injure the skin or teeth, it being purely the oil, extracts and essence of our choicest flowers, a few applications being sufficient to remove all tan, freckles, pimples, or any eruptions which are such bitter enemies to the beauty of the face, and as a destrifice for the teeth it has no equal. Ladies and gentlemen need not fear to give it a trial. We published, a few days ago, a certificate from one of our best and well known French chemists and pharmaceutists, Enno Saunders, under Barnum and Southern Hotels, St. Louis, and we believe it to be what it is recommended. We feel certain that the above name would not have come out in connection with it were it not all that is claimed for it. It is not only recommended as as external beautifier, but it is prescribed by some of our first-class physicians as a sure cure for ulcerated sore mouth, gums or throat, it being mother nature's own healing balm. Mrs. Jackson therefore respectfully solicits the ladies and druggists to call on J. B. Wasson & Co., wholesale agents, No. 318 Main street, and examine her preparation free of charge. Manufacturing depot No. 113 North Sixth street, St. Louis, Mo. Agents (male and female) wanted to introduce the above article. Liberal compensation allowed.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS.

Three Editors Arrested by the Order of Judge Hunter.

The Case Continued till To-Day. ---A Lively Time.

An unusual interest was excited in the Criminal Court—William Hunter, Judge—on yesterday, in consequence of the arrest of Messrs. Galloway and Rhea, proprietors and editors of the Avalanche, upon a bench warrant for contempt of Court, based upon a local article in Tuesday's issue, entitled "Hunter's Bail." The defendants appeared in Court on yesterday to answer the charges of the Court.

Messrs. Yerger and Sale and Ed. A. Beecher, Esq., appeared for the defendants.

Judge Hunter stated that "the above gentlemen were attached for contempt of Court," and ordered the clerk to read the offensive article. (It was read by the clerk.)

Col. Ed. Yerger arose and said:

May it please the Court, these gentlemen are here to make answer to the demand made upon them by the process issued from this Court. They do not know what the charge is, as no affidavit has been filed against them, nor does any charge appear upon the records in any manner, shape, or form, in regard to which they are called to make answer. The defendants would like to have some specifications of the offence charged. If it is a proceeding of contempt, we would like to demand some definite statement in regard to the matter; if that be done, then we are prepared to make an answer, not only as regards the facts but also the law.

Judge Hunter—The clerk will read the process.

Mr. Capers then read the following:

STATE OF TENNESSEE.

To the Sheriff of Shelby county, greeting:

You are hereby commanded to attach the bodies of M. C. Gallaway, W. H. Rhea and M. W. Cluskey, and them safely keep, so that you have the same before the honorable Judge Hunter, Criminal Court at ten o'clock, December 11th, 1867, then and there to answer for a contempt.

Herein fail not, and due return make of this writ, this 10th day of December, 1867.

JOHN DONOVAN, Clerk,
B. S. CAPERS, D. C.

Indorsed on the back:

"M. C. Gallaway, W. H. Rhea and M. W. Cluskey, issued 10th Dec., 1867."
B. S. CAPERS, D. C.

Came to hand on the 10th of December, 1867, and executed by taking in my custody M. C. Gallaway and W. H. Rhea, and bringing them before the Court, as directed. M. W. Cluskey too unwell to leave his room.

P. M. WINTERS, Sheriff.
J. F. LANFORD, Deputy.

Mr. Yerger—There can be no answer to a charge like this.

Judge Hunter—The Court is not aware that it is necessary that in the process the complaint, whether an act of contempt or any other charge, must be stated. It has already been announced in what the contempt consisted, namely, in the article published in Tuesday morning's Avalanche. Unless these gentlemen deny their being publishers of that paper, of course upon the fact of it, they are prima facie responsible for its publication.

Mr. Yerger—Is there an order upon the records of this Court in regard to this matter, the issuance of this process?

Judge Hunter—Of course the process would not have been issued without an order.

Mr. Yerger—We would be glad to have the order read.

Judge Hunter—The Clerk will please read the order.

Mr. Capers then took a paper from his pocket and read the order directing the Sheriff to arrest Messrs. Gallaway, Rhea & Cluskey, ordering their appearance at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, before Judge Hunter.

Mr. Yerger—Is that all of the entry?

Judge Hunter—Yes, sir.

Mr. Yerger—Then we have nothing to answer. [Laughter.]

Judge Hunter—The Court will proceed to decide the case.

Mr. Beecher—This proceeding is certainly in the nature of a criminal process. The question arises as to whether this case can arise under the provisions of the law providing for the pains of contempt, or whether it is a case in which the Court should prefer an order of libel instead of an attachment for contempt.

Judge Hunter—I do not understand that it is necessary for the Court to take any part in a case of this kind.

Mr. Beecher—In all criminal prosecutions the accused has the right to be heard, and to demand the nature of the case, and the accusation against him, to have a copy thereof, and to meet his witnesses face to face.

Mr. Yerger—I hope there may not be any misunderstanding between the members of the Bar and the Court in regard to the remarks made by the attorneys. We desire that the defendants, brought here under attachment, shall have an opportunity to answer fully whether they have been guilty of that contempt. It is not assumed in this order that the defendants have been guilty of any contempt in the presence of this Court; if that were assumed it would make an answer necessary from them. We want to answer fully in regard to this matter; we desire that these gentlemen shall be placed in a position where they shall be heard so that they may be set right before this community. The law certainly requires that the mode and manner of the contempt shall be sufficiently set forth.

Judge Hunter—What course does the defense propose to pursue?

Mr. Yerger—I want to know the charge.

Judge Hunter—It is already stated.

Mr. Yerger—Is that a part of the records of the Court?

Judge Hunter—It will be to-morrow morning. The Court may require you to answer to-day; or if an application is made for a continuance, the Court can grant it.

Mr. Yerger here asked the Sheriff to get him 2d Humphreys.

Judge Hunter—I will not hear any argument on the question of law involved, in the present status of the case.

Mr. Yerger—I suppose the Court will allow a gentleman to look over this book—2d Humphreys? [Laughter.]

Judge Hunter—Certainly.

Mr. Yerger—I understand that the charge will be a part of the records of the Court to-morrow.

Judge Hunter—It will be included in the minutes of to-day.

Mr. Yerger—Then to-morrow morning we will take opportunity to make answer to it as it appears upon the records of the Court.

Judge Hunter—Very well, sir, no objection to that.

Mr. Yerger—Will the Court set the hour at eleven a.m.?

Judge Hunter—Yes, sir.

Mr. Yerger—Then the defendants are ready to enter into bonds for their appearance.

Judge Hunter—The Sheriff will attend to that. I presume the gentlemen will not abscond. [Laughter.]

Mr. Yerger—I presume not.

THE LAST DODGE OF COLORED VOTERS.—Our colored friends are making a good thing of the pending election, while the candidates have a hard time. Each day and night every candidate is besieged by crowds of newly made voters. Each demands a douceur in the shape of greenbacks. Each candidate's ivory when the Great Closing Out Sale of M. Kraus & Co.'s, No. 218 Main street, corner of Adams, is now doing a very good business. There is now in course of construction a large cotton factory, which promises to be one of the largest in the South; and, judging of the energy and perseverance, we have no hesitancy in saying that at some future day, Water Valley will be one of the live cities of this continent. Feeling I have tired out myself, if not your readers, I must close, to get ready to start further south. So, hoping our friends will take an "Appeal" upon it, I remain, yours, truly.

PRICES OF CITY AND COUNTRY PROPERTY.

Why the Former is Preferred.

There is little doubt that the price of real estate has been lessened everywhere in the South. Plantations that were bought at sixty dollars per acre are sold at six and eight, while city lots do not command fabulous sums as in 1860. True as this may be, and intolerable as exactions of tax gatherers become, the depreciation of city property is less than that of plantations. Everywhere in the South there is a manifest disposition on the part of land owners to convert farms into city property. Fixed habits of aged planters cannot be instantly conformed to changed modes of life and industry. Therefore we find very many people, from all parts of the country, gathering in cities, and therefore, since investments cannot be made in labor, the whole capital of the country is directed to a single mode of investment. The market value of city property, for these reasons, is not lessened, pari passu, with that of country estates. Recent auction sales in the vicinity of the city, and others of lots on the leading thoroughfares, illustrate these facts. The price of suburban estates is hardly maintained while there is little diminution of values fixed upon central city property. Those who have money can find no mode of investment that promises a surer income. The auction sales of lots on Madison street confirm these suggestions, while efforts made to sell unproductive country property have been unavailing. It is also true that while there is very little capital seeking investment, those who own productive city lots prefer their ownership to their equivalent in greenbacks. Sales of such property are forced and never willingly made. There is little moneyed capital in the South, and this temporary and unnatural financial fact causes capitalists to estimate its worth as extravagantly as others do the best corner lots. In fact the relative value of productive city property is unnaturally advanced while enormous taxation has lessened to an unnatural degree the market value of unproductive property. Meanwhile the country still empties its wealth and population into the city. Multitudes of planters are ruined by each cotton operations of the past year, by the cotton tax, and an imperfect labor system, disgusted, too, with the new order of things and hopeless of change, will seek homes in the city. The city may be very poor and its trade reduced to a minimum, but its population may still be augmented. This fact will be materially affected by the approaching municipal election. Beecher's success might draw an hundred thousand blacks and repel every white man who sought escape from negro infested districts of the interior.

THE COURTS.

CHANCERY COURT—Wm. M. Smith, Chancellor. The divorce case of Stillman vs Stillman is still on hearing. The argument will commence to-day. In the case of Shields vs Bingham, in which the aliased contempt of Deputy U. S. Marshal Bingham was heard, said Bingham forcibly took property out of the hands of S. O. Sangster, the Deputy Sheriff. The Chancellor held "that the levy of the sheriff was good, and that the good seized by the sheriff were not subject to seizure by an U. S. Marshal, or any other officer, and it was the duty of a Court to protect its officer. It was ordered that the motion of the Sheriff be granted; that Bingham deliver the goods wrongfully attached by him, to the sheriff, when he can obtain them, and pay the costs up to this Court to the goods, thus settling the question of priority of him. Bingham may bring his action at law against the Sheriff, but is now only required to undo the wrong that has been done, and to restore his (Sheriff's) goods in any legal manner." The decrees and orders entered on yesterday are as follows:

Sweet vs Doyle, motion for receiver overruled.
McDonough vs McLean, exceptions sustained in part.
Herbert vs Finnie, report of C & M confirmed.
Montgomery vs Montgomery, order of reference.
Block vs Cohn, receiver appointed.
Hill vs Bradley, final decree.

CRIMINAL COURT.—The jury in the case of Thomas Talbot, charged with rape, on yesterday, returned a verdict of guilty, and fixed the penalty at three years' imprisonment in the penitentiary. The jail cases will continue to be called to-day, after the investigation of the Avalanche so-called contempt case.

SHELBY CIRCUIT COURT—Geo. W. Reeves, Judge. The same cas s published on yesterday will be called up for trial to-day.

LAW COURT—James G. Pierce, Judge.—The cases set for trial to-day are as follows:

356 Norville, Boon & co. vs Vaden.
357 Jackson vs Tillman et al.
57 Frame vs Cushing & Gunn.
361 Campbell vs Ware.
634 Baker vs Penfield.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL,
MEMPHIS, December 11, 1867.

Our banks report more ease to-day in exchange, owing to the diminished offerings and demand. Rates are the same on all points. New York sight, buying at 5c discount. On points outside New York, 5c discount; and on New Orleans, 2½@½ discount for sight, with one transaction at fifteen days on the latter point at 1½c off. The current selling rates are par, with only an occasional exception in favor of good customers.

The New York gold market opened at 135¼. At noon it had advanced ¼c, but at the close had declined to 134⅝. In our market a few sales were made early in the day at 134@134½c, but at the close 133½@133¾c were the best figures offered by dealers.

Silver is taken at 125@126c.

City Scrip is inactive. There is a very light counter demand. Buying at 35@35½c. Selling at 37c.

County Warrants are not in demand. Brokers have ceased buying, having all they want on hand. The selling rates run from 68@75c, as to size of Warrant.

Police Scrip is in fair request at 82c buying. Selling at 85@90c.

The Economist has the following on mercantile failures in New York:

Failures among the wholesale merchants continue to be the order of the day. During the week several suspensions have occurred among firms in China trade and in the dry goods importing business; and serious fears are entertained that these are but the beginning of a series of heavy failures. The suspensions of the last few weeks, including those of cotton firms, must aggregate somewhere near $20,000,000. Besides these, not a few private compositions have been made, and a large amount of paper not provided for at maturity, have been "extended." As a rule, the failures have exhibited a light proportion of assets to liabilities, and have been to a large extent among the importing houses. The very heavy importations of the last two years are doubtless at the root of these reverses. It has been patent to the most superficial observers that immense amounts of goods have been sold much below the cost of importation; and this having been done through a succession of seasons, the result could not be otherwise than disastrous. It is a notable feature in connection with the failures that they have not been among the young and generally esteemed weak firms. Those who have fallen have been houses of long standing, high credit and reputed wealth, the class that would be expected to weather an adverse gale the longest. It is difficult to explain the fact except upon the paradoxical supposition that the very caution of these firms has proved their ruin. They were out early, and conservative merchants. During the inflation of prices consequent upon the war and the suspension of specie payments, they were alarmed at the apparent reckless tendency of affairs, believed everything unsound and tending to rottenness, and therefore kept aloof from business as much as possible, leaving the trade to be done by those who cared less for consequences. They thus lost three or four years chances of making large profits upon advancing prices; when they began again to make to the fact that those who had done the business which they had declined had realized handsome profits. Discerning the mistake, they then entered into extensive operations, supposing it to be only necessary to reverse their policy in order to correct their error. Here was their grand mistake. They began to expand their operations at a time when the fall in gold, the pressure of taxation and a natural reaction in the markets were beginning to press prices downward; and having been trading largely upon a falling market they have lost their capital. Those who are apparently reckless during the rise in prices made profits which enable them now to withstand the losses of the decline, and are amongst the strongest of our merchants.

There was but one Liverpool dispatch received to-day up to the close of business. That one quoted Uplands, 7¼d—with Orleans, 7¾d—with an act at market. Sales 10,000 bales. The New York market had not opened at 11 a.m. to-day. The money stock had depressed the market, which was unchanged but tending lower. At noon it was inactive, with prices drooping; Middlings, 15¾c. At the close the market was very dull and unsettled; Middlings, 15¾c; Orleans, 15¾c; sales 700 bales. The depression in the New York market is hard to account for, with the Liverpool market active at 7¾d, and we can't think that the present decline is without reasonable foundation. The movement of gold has heretofore not effected the staple, but has a sympathetic effect at this time. Our market to-day has been dull and irregular, with no sales outside a few odd lots which were taken at a wide margin on New York quotations. Holders are anxious to sell, but ask 15½@16c for Middlings, while buyers are indisposed to do anything. The sales for the day were very light—probably as low as any day of the season, with quotations hard to give.

FASSMAN'S IRON TIES

—FOR—

COTTON BALES.

THE undersigned have made extensive arrangements to supply the demand for these Ties the present season.

In addition to the FASSMAN DIAMOND TIE and BUTTON TIE, so extensively used heretofore, they now offer the ALLIGATOR TIE, with teeth so arranged as to instantly clamp the hoop when the pressure is removed from the bale, and to hold it without slipping.

Great pains have been taken to secure the best quality of iron.

These Ties are so simple in their arrangement that they can be applied by any one, to bales of any size, with the same facility and expedition as rope. In strength, security and facility of application, they will compare favorably with any tie yet introduced.

The advantages of Iron Ties are now generally recognized; but it is deemed not out of place to call the attention of those interested to the very emphatic recommendation of Underwriters, Steamer Captains, and Cotton and Agents of Sea Steamers and Sailing Vessels, recently published in the newspapers in New Orleans.

THE MEMPHIS APPEAL

THE HOUR OF DEATH.

BY MRS. HEMANS.

Leaves have their time to fall,
And flowers to wither at the north wind's breath,
And stars to set—but all,
Thou hast all seasons for thine own, oh, Death!

Day is for mortal care,
Eve for glad meetings round the joyous hearth,
Night for the dreams of sleep the voice of prayer;
But all for thee, thou mightiest of the earth.

The banquet hath its hour,
Its feverish hour of mirth, and song, and wine;
There comes a day for grief's o'erwhelming power,
A time for softer tears—but all are thine.

Youth and the opening rose
May look like things too glorious for decay,
And smile at thee; but thou art not of those
That wait the ripened bloom to seize their prey.

Leaves have their time to fall,
And flowers to wither at the north wind's breath,
And stars to set—but all,
Thou hast all seasons for thine own, oh, Death.

We know when moons shall wane,
When summer birds from far shall cross the sea,
When autumn's hue shall tinge the golden grain;
But who shall teach us when to look for thee?

Is it when spring's first gale
Comes forth to whisper where the violets lie?
Is it when roses in our paths grow pale?
They have their season—all are ours to die!

Thou art where bill'ows foam;
Thou art where music melts upon the air;
Thou art around us in our peaceful home,
And the world calls us forth—and thou art there.

Thou art where friend meets friend,
Beneath the shadow of the elm to rest;
Thou art where foe meets foe and trumpets rend
The skies, and swords beat down the princely crest.

Leaves have their time to fall,
And flowers to wither at the north wind's breath,
And stars to set—but all,
Thou hast all seasons for thine own, oh, Death!

INTERESTING TO LADIES.

New Year's Calls, Cards, Costumes, and Customs.

From the Chicago Times.]

Costumes for New Year are now under consideration, and some very lovely designs are to be described. Before speaking of them, it may be mentioned that young ladies now send to gentlemen whom they specially desire to call upon them. Belles from the suburban towns come in the city for the holidays, and receive at a hotel, or with a friend, and all of their acquaintance whom they have any desire to see are notified that such is the case by a card issued in this form:

CARDS FOR NEW YEAR

Louise B. Grainger,
119 E. Thirtieth street.

Jan. 1, 1868.

The style of card which seems in general favor, is neither the shell nor pearl card, but a plain, heavy board, without gloss, engraved in clear medieval letter. A pure, heavy note paper, without water mark, unruled, and bearing a large embossed monogram, is in the best of style for letter-writing. Envelopes open at the end, and quite a large size seem to be preferred. For young lady receiving calls in her first season, is of white poplin, trimmed with sashes of rosy scarlet satin laid down each seam, the front ones a foot shorter than the skirt, those on the back curving their fragile lace ruffl ings over the edge of the train. Her waist is cut five inches deep, and of scarlet satin cords are stitched on in shell festoons. The boddice is half high, pointed back and front in the neck, but straight on the shoulders. The points are continued on the waist with satin rolleaux, the sleeves being sashes of satin falling from the shoulder, finished by a ruffle of delicate white lace, and the neck has a standing ruffle of the same.

AN APPROPRIATE COSTUME

The hair is arranged in large waves falling back from the face; the chignon a mass of puffs and short ringlets, dressed with a full white rosebud, and two small crimson ones; ornaments of frosted silver inlaid with scarlet enamel.

ANOTHER DRESS FOR A YOUNG LADY

is of azure gros-grains of the most brilliant shade, trimmed, not with white lace, which has too hard an effect as usually applied, but with delicate black lace laid and quilled over white tulle, which gives a aerial gray, the relief precisely desired for the blue. The skirt has a wide quilled ruffle of silk, rising in points at the side; above this in front is a crescent festoon of lace fastened at each end with a boquet of knots of narrow ribbon and satin. The waist is plain, but over it is worn a lace fichu with long ends crossing in front and tied in a bow behind, falling to the top of the skirt ruffle, which is headed with a quilling of narrow lace.

The hair is loosely creped on the sides of the head, and dressed in a waved large chignon with two long coils passing over the top of the head, coronet fashion, and a spray of crimson flowering vine with gold berries on the left depending from the coils. Golden almonds for ornament.

A SHADE OF GRAY MAUVE

is in most recent favor, quite superseding the Bismark abroad. A magnificent reception dress is of this shade, brocaded with knots of Parma violets, and golden leaves with scarlet spikes glowing sharply in the brilliant design. The corsage is extremely pointed, a fichu of point de gaze being laid on the shoulders, and the quillings at the edge set with knots of violet, scarlet, and gold ribbon with gold fringed ends. The sleeves, a la jurive, are trimmed to match, and lined with white satin striped with scarlet; the undersleeves were puffed in diamonds, separated by scarlet satin cordings with a gold bead at each angle. The skirt was open on the sides to show a white satin petticoat laced with scarlet and gold, and the train looped a little at these openings with a gorgeous knot of wide ribbon twisted and fringed with gold.

Hair arranged in puffs all over the head, with fine curls fringing the forehead; the chignon is one mass of tiny curls and curling. Fillets of scarlet and purple are wound, one just above the row of front curls, the other two round the chignon, above which is a large knot of violets with silver gray and scarlet leaves. Solitaire diamonds are worn with this dress.

A PURPLE VELVET DRESS

has a train falling separately over a short skirt of the same, and fastened to it by cross straps of velvet edge with white lace. The corsage bore reverse turned back with wide delicate lace frills. Hanging sleeve richly fringed with white, lined with rose-colored satin; undersleeves with frills of point at the wrist.

Hair dressed in large waves, and coiled chignon, with lace scarf fastened lightly across the crown, held by a jeweled rose. The diamonds to be worn with this toilet are superb, the falling fringes of brilliants depending from smaller crosses set with black amethysts.

AN ADMIRED DRESS

was of buerre colored grosgrain, with angular designs on the skirts of three folds of satin—the center one black, the others white. The sash was of buerre silk trimmed to match the skirt, with the addition of heavily fringed ends. The bodice was pompadour with satan bands, heading a short heavy black fringe round the neck. The sleeves were flowing, but deeply gashed in triple ruffles, fringed. The undersleeves were of tulle shirred in circular fine puffs like those inside widow caps, every one crossed with markings of the finest gold braid—which looks chastely elegant with thin white material. A bouquet of tea-roses is to be carried with this dress, and white onyx and picked gold ornaments; the full dress comprising bands for the hair, necklace, bracelets, chatelaine, and magnificent ear-drops.

AN EFFECTIVE TOILET

was of superb fabric, alternate stripes of gray silk and white plush two inches wide, the front widths set off with a white satin braid four inches wide, in shallow points heading a white chenille fringe eight inches deep. The same trimming surrounded the full train. The corsage was a pointed bodice covering half the waist, the upper part and sleeves being puffed tulle, crossed with white velvet bands the same width as the stripes of the dress. A black lace barbe with deep red roses formed the coiffure; the ornaments were Egyptian designs in black onyx, steel and diamonds.
